RAM RODEO

Since 1981, Ram Truck has been the official vehicle of professional rodeo. In 2014, the 6.4 L HEMI V-8 and Cummins 6.7L Turbo Diesel have the horsepower to be a part of the most powerful lineup of trucks and new engineering that adds up to one powerful, capable and tough heavy duty truck. The Ram Rodeo Series, along with local dealers, spend several million dollars every year supporting rodeo. More than 500 rodeos are sponsored annually by RAM. THANK YOU RAM!

TWISTED X BOOTS

Twisted X Boots is the fastest growing footwear brand in the western industry. Twisted X has the right footwear for where ever life takes you. Twisted X understands and supports the western lifestyle. That's why Twisted X is proud to be a national sponsor of the Western States Ranch Rodeo Association. So, when you think comfort and performance, think Twisted X.

FAY RANCHES

Fay Ranches has been providing brokerage and advisory services for the acquisition and sale of significant land assets since 1992. While not forgetting our roots as a sporting ranch company, we have expanded our focus and expertise to include the finest farms, ranches, timberland, plantations, and vineyards from coast to coast. Over the last three decades, we have built a network of relationships, including our Strategic Alliance with Texas-based Republic Ranches. We continue to lead the industry with our consistent ability to source land opportunities for investors and use our unrivaled reach and marketing platform to handle the sale of exceptional land assets. Fay Ranches is headquartered in Bozeman, Montana, with offices across the United States, from Oregon to Tennessee.

WCVA

Winnemucca is a jewel found in the very center of Northern Nevada. Known for outstanding hospitality, Winnemucca has often been referred to as the “friendliest town in Nevada.” With 24-hour gaming action, endless recreational opportunities, rich community history, quality accommodations, and great dining options, Winnemucca is the place to be.

This event is sanctioned with the Western States Ranch Rodeo. The WSRRA Western States Ranch Rodeo Association started for one reason: to allow the full time and the average day working cowboy, working men and women, to have an opportunity to compete in sanctioned ranch rodeo events. For years, other associations have catered to only the full-time ranch-hand competitor, leaving a large gap for those who work full time in other professions. By including full time ranch cowboys, smaller ranches and part-time cowboy contenders, the WSRRA will considerably enrich the ranch rodeo sport, bringing in fresh talent, showcasing more skills and encouraging seniors, women and youths to participate in a family atmosphere. Only by continuing to expand the opportunities for all ranch rodeo competitors do we ensure that the ranch rodeo heritage will continue for generations to come.

The American cowboy has been a worldwide icon since the early 1800s. Today the heritage, values, and traditions of the working ranch are still alive and well. Ranch cowboys are out there living the lifestyle – calving, branding, gathering and doctoring cattle – keeping our ranching traditions alive.

The WSRRA was formed in 2010 to promote and preserve these traditions through a sanctioned ranch rodeo association. Full time, part time/day working ranch cowboys or anyone else who enjoys competing in ranch rodeo events are welcome!

All qualifying ranch teams and top fifteen individual event contestants will be invited to compete at the annual WSRRA National Finals Rodeo held the first week of November in Winnemucca, Nevada.
